What is typology?	Explain examples of women who have played a role in salvation history	What are the Four Dogmas of Mary?
Typology is the term used to describe this ancient method of approaching scripture which looks for Jesus at the heart of the Old Testament. An Old Testament person, event or thing is described as a 'type' that anticipates or prefigures an element of Jesus' life or death in the New Testament. An example could include when the 'new age to come' is spoken about within the Old Testament. It becomes a prophecy that connects the two testaments.	To say someone "plays a role in salvation history" means they helped God's plan to save people. Their actions or faith were important in the story that leads to Jesus coming to save the world. It shows how God used different people to bring about His plan. Examples include: Sarah, Rebekah, Leah, Miriam, Rahab, Deborah, Hannah, Ruth	1. Mary, the Mother of God (Theotokos) 2. The Immaculate Conception 3. The Perpetual Virginity of Mary 4. The Assumption of Mary
